"Mr. Oppenheim at His Best"

THE ILLUSTRIOUS PRINCE

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

Ready Today, May 7

The startling methods of the American ambassador and an English Duke to circumvent an Oriental plot form the basis of this new story of international intrigue and mystery by the author of "Jeanne of the Marshes," "The Missioner," etc.

Illustrated by Will Foster. Cloth. $1.50

LITTLE, BROWN & CO., Publishers, Boston

"Light as thistledown, prismatic as a rainbow, tender as a woman's heart, and merry as a child's laughter—all this, and more, is 'The Professional Aunt.'"

—Chicago Record-Herald

THE PROFESSIONAL AUNT

is a delightful little novel by a new English writer

Mary C. E. Wemyss

Its appeal can best be judged from the following:

FROM THE PRESS

"Mrs. Wemyss is a formidable rival to E. Nesbit, who hitherto has stood practically alone as a charmingly humorous interpreter of child life."—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

"A bright little book. . . . The children are very human and funny, and occasionally terrible. . . . The record of their doings and sayings and those of the grown-ups as well is replete with humor, and is written in charming fashion. A welcome glint of sunshine is the little tale after the woes and problems with which so much modern fiction is drenched."—New York Times.

"No one who reads it will be disappointed."—New York Herald.

"One of the most delightful stories that has ever crossed the water. . . . A delight from beginning to end . . . not only a beautiful picture of life in a refined English home, but full of the cleanest, merriest humor that ever beguiled even a cynical reader into heartfelt smiles."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

FROM LETTERS RECEIVED

Kate Douglas Wiggin

"A charming, witty, tender book, with much keen observation of children."

Clara Louise Burnham

"I think the book will strike a responsive chord in the breast of each member of the vast army of Professional Aunts. It is the legitimate successor of Helen's Babies and sure of a similar success. More, one could not ask."

Margaret E. Sangster

"The book is charming from the first to the last page and is written with a freshness and breezy humor that add gaiety to life. The author writes without a trace of self-consciousness, with a winsome sweetness and an appealing tenderness not too often found in the books of the hour."

Mary Roberts Rinehart

"The good humor of the book, and its keen insight into child nature as well as grown-up motives, pleased me immensely. . . . It is delightfully done."

DANBURY RODD, AVIATOR

By FREDERIC PALMER

Illustrated, $1.50

Rapid, thrilling narratives of navigation in the air. In Rodd, the hero, is presented the ideal driver of the aeroplane—cool, resourceful, intrepid.

He is the Knight-Errant of the future—of the coming era of aerial navigation:—like the knights of the past, he seeks adventure and the ideal woman. He finds both. His rescues, his perils, his love story—all this forms a novel vivid and fascinating.

The book is full of incident; of danger in the air, of hand-to-hand encounters, of breathless voyages high above the earth.

THE BLACK BEAR

By WILLIAM H. WRIGHT

Author of "The Grizzly Bear." Illustrated, $1.00 net; postpaid, $1.10

This is the story first of the black bear "Ben"; of his habits, adventures, and characteristics. Then it is a study of black bears in general from the point of view of the student of natural history and the hunter.

THE ANGEL OF LONESOME HILL

A GREAT ROMANCE OF THE WEST

THE SILENT CALL

By EDWIN MILTON ROYLE

Illustrated. $1.50

The story of the Squaw Man's son by the author of the eminently successful drama, "The Squaw Man," which remained on the boards for five years, playing in all English-speaking countries.

This is a novel of the West; vigorous, stirring, picturesque. In its pages are reproduced the atmosphere of the prairies; in its pages live and act such characters as have made the West the land of romance.

Beyond all, this is a love story, written with all the emotional intensity and delicate feeling that distinguished the "Squaw Man."

SOON TO APPEAR

MR. DOOLEY SAYS

By FINLEY PETER DUNN

$1.00 net. (Postpaid $1.10)

This, the first book by Mr. Dooley which has been published in four years, contains his very latest comment on men and women and things. He treats of "Divorce," "Glory," "Woman Suffrage," "The Bachelor Tax," "The Rising of the Subject Races," "Panics," "Ocean Travel," "Work," "Drugs," and many other things. The little book is full of the wit and wisdom which have made him the greatest and wisest of our humorists. His philosophy has ripened and his humor grown richer, and this book is the best of all.

PHILIPPA AT HALCYON

By KATHARINE HOLLAND BROWN

Illustrated, $1.50

She has transferred to her pages the actual atmosphere of a girls' college—the very spirit of the girl undergraduates. Nowhere is so true and so charming an impression given of girls' college life.

A Powerful Novel of Now

(Ready May 14) Drawn by BRACKER for The Man Higher Up

THE MAN HIGHER UP

By HENRY RUSSELL MILLER

An American novel of today, awakening, inspiring, thrillingly true and convincingly real

A MAN of the crude ore from which fine steel is made, who fought his way from tenement-waif to newsboy, millhand, ward-leader, party boss, mayor of a great city, governor of a great state. The enemies who opposed him inch by inch. The women who loved him and the one woman he loved. The forces he organized by the strength of his iron will and that inner force by which he came at last to rule his own spirit.

READ THIS CORRESPONDENCE ABOUT

Hopalong Cassidy

(Now In Its Third Edition)

CLARENCE E. MULFORD'S Great Cowboy Story

One of our retail customers, who gives away a great many books of fiction, writes us:

I thoroughly enjoyed reading "Hopalong Cassidy" and have bought a dozen more copies of —— & Co., Pittsburg,—when there last week—as many more from —— & —— Co., in Cleveland, and will use at least fifty or more copies—maybe a hundred and fifty.

The enclosed letter shows what Mr. —— thinks of the book and I know he is a critic.

HIS FRIEND'S LETTER

My dear ——

Thank you very much for the copy of "Hopalong Cassidy" which I have just finished. It is the best cowboy story I have ever read and I have read most of them.

The ST. LOUIS POST-DESPATCH versifies HOPALONG CASSIDY

PROLOGUE

THE friends of Hopalong will all
Rejoice to learn that he is well,
And that as yet no passing ball
Has sent him where his forbears dwell.
A little older, true, but still
That same delightful Hopalong
To live in memory until
St. Peter hammers on the gong.

ACT I.

The curtain rises. Lo! upon
The Texas plain is bloody war
And great excitement going on—
A neighbor's cattle come too far.
"Back of the line!" says Buck the chief,
And Hoppy is detailed to mass
A dozen men and shoot the thief
Who dares to steal a blade of grass.
But ah! the neighbor has—as they
Are wont to have—a daughter fair,
And she comes riding by the day,
The sunlight dancing in her hair,
And Hoppy's pulse ticks like a clock
What time Dan Cupid strings a dart
And rising from behind a rock
Pot-shoots him—bingo! in the heart.

ACT II.

O, woe is Hopalong, who is
Compelled to choose between his love
And those associates of his
Whom formerly he loved above
All other mortal things—mayhap,
Remaining to his colors true,
To have to shoot the lady's pap,
Which Hopalong sure hates to do.
But stay! The Fates are more than kind—
The battle scarcely has begun
When rustlers venture from behind
The chaparral and try to run
The herds off, seizing on the pause
Of vigilance—the which unites
The ranches in the common cause
Of looking to their mutual rights.

ACT III.

The curtain rises on the scene
Of Thunder Mesa. Lo! beside
The parent of his promised queen
Is Hopalong, the eagle eyed.
Upon his stomach in the brush,
And every time a shot replies
To one upon the mesa—hush!
Another cattle-stealer dies.
This is the Hopalong of old—
And this the Hopalong, as well,
Her father came in time to hold
In high esteem, the truth to tell.
He only had to see displayed
His valor and his feats of arms
To ultimately yield the maid,
With blessings, into Hoppy's arms.

AFTERWORD.

A rather better story than
"The Orphan" was, but not possessed
Of quite the humor that began
The tales of Hoppy and the rest.
They never have been quite so good
As those first tales we chuckled at,
But holy scats! as Hoppy would
Exclaim, we could do worse, at that.

WAYWARD ANNE

By CURTIS YORKE

THE secret of Curtis Yorke's popularity with "all sorts and conditions" of readers is that she writes from experience in life and art, that she possesses clearness of vision, and that in all her work there is a refreshing absence of the "mechanical" and the "unreal." The plot of "Wayward Anne" is simplicity itself—but it is the simplicity of the art which conceals art. An unconventional friendship of a man, who is under a cloud, with a girl who believes in him, forms its basis.

A LABRADOR SPRING

By CHARLES WENDELL TOWNSEND

Author of "Along the Labrador Coast"

THIS volume is interesting not only as a description of a cruise along a portion of the southern Labrador coast beset with islands and abounding in salmon rivers, but also from its human atmosphere of Acadian fishermen, fur traders and Montagnais Indians, and it gives one many glimpses of the picturesque life in these little known regions.

The chief object of Dr. Townsend's vacation trip to Labrador was a study of the brief northern spring with its melting snow-banks, its bursting buds and procession of flowers, its migrating birds and Indians and the varied spring activities of its white settlers.

This book, like "Along the Labrador Coast" by the same author, is fully illustrated by numerous well chosen photographs taken on the trip.

THE BUTTERFLY MAN

By George Barr McCutcheon
Author of "GRAUSTARK," etc.

Illustrated in color by HARRISON FISHER
12mo. Cloth. $1.25

A strikingly interesting character is the Butterfly Man, and strikingly interesting is the story of his flight through society, with a true account of his love affairs with the girl whom he wanted to marry and couldn't quite love; and the girl whom he loved and couldn't quite marry. And it is told in just that light, bright, and delightful way with which the author has captivated thousands of readers a dozen times before.

THE RUNNING FIGHT

By William Hamilton Osborne
Author of "THE RED MOUSE"

Illustrated. 12mo. Cloth. $1.50

Mr. Osborne is a born story teller, with a natural gift for suspense, surprise and dramatic situations, as his widely popular first novel, "The Red Mouse," will attest. "The Running Fight" is a story after the author's own heart, tense, rapid, strong, full of unexpected situations and startling denouements, and with a very strong and tender love story running through it.

NOTES IN SEASON.

THE OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS will publish on May 18 Theodore Roosevelt's lecture, simultaneously with its delivery before the University on that day.

FREDERICK A. STOKES COMPANY have now ready "The Golden Trail," a romance of the Northwestern Rockies, involving a search for a lost mining claim, a struggle for its control with a group of tricky financiers, and a good love story. It is a timely story in view of our Alaskan mine troubles.

THE LIPPINCOTTS brought out on May 3 Dr. James Frederick Rogers's book on "Life and Health," the title of which has been simplified from the form in which it was first announced; and a work on "Modern Assaying," by J. Reginald Smith, edited by F. W. Braun.

DANA ESTES & Co. will publish on May 10 "Wayward Anne," by the writer who calls herself Curtis Yorke; and on May 15 "A Labrador Spring," by Charles Wendell Townsend, author of "Along the Labrador Coast," who now studies the brief spring season of Labrador with its migrating birds, its Indians and the awakening spring activities of its white settlers and fur traders.

HARPER & BROTHERS announce the publication of three new books and one new edition this week. The new issues are "Going Some," by Rex Beach, a romance of strenuous affection on the frontier; "Labor in Europe and America," by Samuel Gompers; "Making Good," stories of outdoor sports. "Under the Greenwood Tree" is added to the new thin-paper edition of Hardy's works.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS will very shortly issue "Letters to Sanchia Upon Things as They Are," by Maurice Hewlett, taken from his great novel, "The Open Country," with just enough explanatory text to make them comprehensible; and "Mr. Dooley Says," the first published collection in four years of essays by Finley Peter Dunne, in which he treats such live subjects as Divorce, Glory, Woman Suffrage, Panics, Ocean Travel, etc.

DODD, MEAD & COMPANY publish to-day, beside "The Running Fight," by William Hamilton Osborne," and "The Butterfly Man," by George Barr McCutcheon, three important books of non-fiction: "The New Baedeker: Casual Notes of an Irresponsible Traveller," by Harry Thurston Peck, author of "Twenty Years of the Republic," "Studies in Several Literatures," etc., a reprint of articles on Utica, Atlantic City, Brussels, Winnipeg and divers other very diverse places which appeared originally in the Bookman; "The Life of Daniel Coit Gilman," by Fabian Franklin, one of the most important biographies of the season; and "Will Shakespeare, of Stratford and London: a Drama," by Margaret Crosby Munn, author of "The Path of Stars," etc.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. announce as ready June 4 the new novel, "Whirlpools," by Henryk Sienkiewicz, author of "With Fire and Sword," "Quo Vadis," etc. As in "Children of the Soil," the great novelist in his latest book, "Whirlpools," deals with the conditions of modern life, and as in "Without Dogma," he has placed the soul of his hero under the microscope, but unlike that work, he has made him the central figure of a group of life-like characters and of an unusual love story. Brilliant dialogue, profound thought, and subtle analysis of human motives permeate the book, and the novelist shows that he has been a close observer of recent agrarian troubles and socialistic intrigues in Poland. Marynia, the youthful violinist, is one of the author's most beautiful and lovable girl creations. They will publish to-day "The Girl from the Marsh Croft," by Selma Lagerlof, the winner of the Nobel literary prize of $40,000 and the world-wide reputation that goes with it.

The calorimeters described are those at present in use in the Nutrition Laboratory, Boston. When the Laboratory was established the immediate construction of suitable apparatus for studying the complicated processes of metabolism in man was the first task, and several series of experiments with respiration calorimeters were made. References in footnotes.

Bianchi, Mrs. Martha Gilbert Dickinson, comp. Russian lyrics, songs of Cossack, lover, patriot and peasant done into English verse. N. Y., Duffield, 1910. c. 139 p. D. cl., $1.25 net.

These poems are translated from the work of such writers as Lermontoff, Pushkin, Tolstoi, Maikow, Nikitin, Nadson, and many others, by Mrs. Bianchi, who is already known through her "The cuckoo's nest," "A modern Prometheus," etc. Brief biographical notes of various authors represented are given at the end of the volume.

Bindloss, Harold. The gold trail; with a front. in colors by Edn. Megargee. N. Y., Stokes, [1910.] c. 367 p. D. cl., $1.30 net.

By the author of "Winston of the prairie," "Alton of Somasco," etc. The story begins in the northwestern Rockies, moves to England, then back to the Rockies again. It follows the fortunes of Clarence Weston in his search for a gold mine, mysteriously lost. He fights for life as well as success as he crawls up treacherous walls of crags, wades over snow-capped peaks, hews his way through forests. His hardest fight is against tricky financiers, but at last he wins. A charming heroine makes the struggle of the hero worth while.

Bonner, Geraldine. The emigrant trail. N. Y., Duffield, 1910. c. 496 p. front. D. cl., $1.50.

A story of emigration to the West just before the great emigration of 1848 toward discovered gold. Gives graphic picture of the daily life of a physician and his daughter who travelled almost half a year between Rochester and California. The girl is natural, wholesome and full of vitality and determination. Two men fall in love with her on the dangerous journey and great jealousy almost leads to murder. An old faithful servant of the physician's is a character a novelist may be proud of creating. Mosquitoes, chills and fever, cholera and Indians were all to be faced besides the love troubles of the leading characters.

Besides his experience as dean of the faculty of forestry, University of Toronto, Mr. Fernow was for some time in charge of Soldiers' Home Park, Washington, D. C., and served on a commission on the reconstruction of Central Park, New York. His knowledge of trees is therefore not only from the utilitarian point of view, but also from the ornamental. The book is an authoritative handbook written for amateurs giving technical details of the best methods for the care of trees, extermination of disease, insects, etc., and exhaustive lists of trees and shrubs fit for ornamental planting. Bibliography (2 p.). Index.

Feuchtersleben, Ernst von, M.D. Health and suggestion: the dietetics of the mind; tr. and ed. by Ludwig Lewisohn. N. Y., Huebsch, 1910. c. 168 p. D. cl., $1 net.

This book, the work of an Austrian physician, was first published in 1838. Dr. Worcester, founder of the Emmanuel Movement, says of it, "it contains the principles of our whole project." The power of the will to influence the mind and through it the body is the subject which the author clearly develops. The fact that this book, after the lapse of seventy-two years, is still authoritative on a question which modern science is spending much thought on, is of great interest.

Already in "Life in the open," "The log of a sea angler," etc., Mr Holder has given some of his experiences as a sportsman. In this book he recounts the adventures of a number of jaunts along the Pacific Coast, during which deep-sea, river and lake fish were caught. Gifford Pinchot was one of the author's companions and his terrific struggle with a swordfish keeps the reader breathless until the fish is landed. The wonders of nature which are so prodigally displayed in California are also interestingly described by Mr. Holder.

Professor Hopkins of Graydon College in a small New England town has, with the assistance of one of his pupils, Ernesta Frost, been experimenting with radium. Just as he makes a wonderful discovery four of his colleagues come suddenly upon him, and in his fury at being spied on he drinks the mixture and falls lifeless at their feet. The radium acts upon the tissues of the body so that they become luminous, and the four men have a dreadful time concealing it. Ernesta also disappears, Mrs. Hopkins employs a detective to clear up the mystery, and for three or four days complications pile up before the surprising solution is revealed.

The autobiographical articles which make up this book appeared serially in Everybody's Magazine. They begin with Judge Lindsey's arrival in Denver at the age of eleven, and describe his experiences as a struggling, sickly youth. His rise to prominence through his exposure of the political rottenness of Colorado, how he achieved the triumph of the reforms with which he has been identified, and how the children's court, now so famous, was established are all told. The beast of corruption and vice is the enemy that Judge Lindsey has combatted, and as a result of his work much has been and will be accomplished, not only for the children of Denver, but of the whole country.

Lyon, Ida. The wonders of life. N. Y., Fenno, [1910.] c. 236 p. D. cl., $1.

This is not, as the title seems to imply, a biological treatise, but an urgent statement of various psychological and mental phenomena which have direct bearing on human happiness. Habits of cheerful, happy thought are urged as an absolute duty each one owes to himself and his fellows. Some of the chapters are: The joy of living; The meaning of life; The power of love; A happy conscious ness; The human body; The mystery of sleep; The business of living, etc.

Wentworth, Patricia. A marriage under the terror. N. Y., Putnam, 1910. c. 4+384 p. D. cl., $1.35 net.

The author received the first prize awarded in the Melrose novel competition. Independently Mrs. Flora Annie Steel, Miss Mary Cholmondeley, and Mrs. Henry De la Pasture arrived at this judgment. From study and a vivid imagination the writer has drawn a compelling picture of the French Revolution. Robespierre, Danton, the ill-fated King and Queen of France and the dreadful dangers of wild "citizenship" are wrought into the plot that also shows true love running smooth after many days of "terror."

Mr. Wright has written a book on "The grizzly bear," and now he sets down what his many years of hunting and observation have taught him about the black bear. The first part of the book tells of "Ben," a black bear which the author captured as a cub and brought up as a pet; the rest of the volume records Mr. Wright's impressions of black bears in general.

Yoe, Shway. The Burman; his life and notions. 3d ed. N. Y., Macmillan, 1910. 12+610 p. 8°, cl., $3.25 net.

An authoritative and exhaustive book depicting the life of the Burman from his birth until his death. In this new edition the writer has taken the opportunity to thoroughly revise the work, in view of the changes during the twenty-seven years since it was first written. He draws attention to the fact that the system of transliteration adopted by the Royal Geographical Society has in the new issue been substituted for phoneticism.

The Publishers' Weekly

The editor is not responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

Publishers should send books promptly for weekly record and descriptive annotation, if possible in advance of publication. The Record of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalog," and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

PRESENT STATUS OF THE PRICE MAINTENANCE CAMPAIGN.

FROM the struggle which has been waging for a decade past for the maintenance of equitable prices in the book trade seven points, now that the haze of battle has to some extent cleared away, may be said to stand out in tolerable clearness:

1. Equitable net prices, honestly maintained, are, in the long run, to the best advantage of manufacturer, retailer and general public.

2. While the majority of the retail book-trade favor price maintenance there is a strong minority, not altogether limited to the department stores, who—secretly or openly—favor a free field and price cutting at will. Since unanimity is a prime factor in the support of a net price, and voluntary unanimity has so far proved difficult in many cities, some form of selling contract is desirable if a fixed price is to be maintained.

3. Organized attempt to maintain prices on non-copyright books has been held in restraint of trade and illegal. The author of a copyright book, however, is granted by the terms of that copyright a limited monopoly; and his publisher, acting as his agent or as the actual proprietor of the copyright, seems clearly to have the right to control both the price and the terms at which his book shall be sold.

4. Concerted action even in regard to copyright books has been questioned in the courts as a possible violation of the anti-trust laws and therefore objectionable, though the Scribner-Macy decision, often misunderstood to cover this point, was not decisive of the general principle, the New York Court of Appeals having taken the view that such concerted action is not prohibited. The test case now in litigation in the Federal Courts will decide this point.

5. Such individual publishers, however, as desire, by contract, with the jobber or retailer or otherwise to maintain the prices of their copyright publications or otherwise control terms of sale of such copyright books, seem to be clearly within their contractual rights.

6. Efforts made to maintain prices, by virtue either of specific or implied contract, have often failed of effect because such contracts or agreements, although of force as between retailer and publisher or as between jobber and publisher, have not been so framed as to extend beyond the jobber to his retail customers. Since certain jobbers have, openly or tacitly, declined to live up to the publisher's maintenance of price arrangements, those retailers who desired to cut prices have been able to secure stock through these jobbers and to this extent thwarted efforts to maintain uniform prices.

7. It has been a prevalent impression in the trade that it is impossible to devise a form of contract which shall be binding on the jobber's customers as well as on the retailer sold direct. On this seventh point the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY editorially two weeks ago endeavored to throw some light by citing contracts which in other trades had been effective in this direction.

These seven conclusions seem fairly to sum up the trade status of the maintenance of price movement to date. With the annual convention of the American Booksellers' Association immediately at hand, it is advisable that the net price question be more thoroughly discussed and such definite conclusions be reached as may be practicable at the present time.

There is one argument against net fiction urged so unanimously by thoughtful opponents of net price fiction, by opponents too who are themselves keen to view a question from a purely business standpoint, that, though it seems to us fallacious, it invites assent.

We are told that fiction should be left "regular" in order that the bookseller "may have an opportunity for 'merchandizing.'" In other words, unless fiction be left susceptible of a discounted price the bookseller will be without "mark down" prices, special sales, and "quantity drives" against special items.

The advocate of "regular" fiction evidently fails to remember that with fiction net, there are still left two immense classes of books inviting rapid-fire salesmanship, namely, non-copyrights and all net books on which protection has expired.

Furthermore, these are the classes of books which, under the rules of retailing customary in other trades, should be so sold. Old books, "left-overs" on which protection has expired, reprints—singly or in series—these are the natural cut-price lines, the material for so-called "loss leaders" and "clearance sales." But on brand new books, the latest fiction, the "new goods of the season" for whose present exploitation the publisher is liberally paying, on these, by the customary laws of retailing, the retailer should find his possible profit, a profit which, for his own interest, he should take every possible means to conserve.

BOOKTRADE CONDITIONS IN ENGLAND.

Booktrade conditions in England, according to Mr. Spurgeon, the head of Cassell & Company, who is visiting the American branch of the house, are just now in a state of unstable equilibrium, a state due to a number of developments, more or less complexly related, but chief of them the recent flood of low price fiction.

The English book buying public, it must be remembered, differs greatly from the American. Fully seventy-five per cent. of the fiction sold is taken, as has been noted recently in The Publishers' Weekly, by the great circulating libraries—Mudie's, Smith's and their rivals—whose hundreds of lending branches and scores of sales "stalls" cover completely the United Kingdom. Their plan is somewhat similar to that attempted here by the Booklovers' and Tabard Inn concerns; but their service is incomparably better organized and more pervasive, and, for a guinea or two guineas a year, literally thousands of the English book reading public are supplied with their books. The public libraries proper cut a much smaller figure there in the booktrade, however, than in America.

Similarly, too, the publishers' advertising problem becomes modified in England by the exigencies of this "library" market. The English publisher advertises primarily, not for buyers of his book, but for readers. The response to his advertising is not so much in reorders from booksellers as in reorders from the "libraries," which are stimulated by an immediate demand for the book at their multitudinous lending branches.

The comparatively small size of England also simplifies the advertising problem. One London morning paper advertises the possibility of its appearance, through effective distribution, "on every breakfast table in Great Britain." And it is a fact that an advertisement in two or three London papers does "cover" pretty effectively a very large proportion of the English reading public. In America there are a dozen odd metropolitan centres; and in "covering" the country with book advertising $1000 or even $3000 does not go very far.

With the net system as applied to non-fiction Mr. Spurgeon, in his interview with the representative of the Publishers' Weekly, stated that the English booktrade publishers and booksellers alike, profess themselves satisfied; and, since the collapse of the Times Book Club venture, there has been no serious attempt to combat it.

As regards net fiction, however, there is even greater difference of opinion there than in America, and so far even less has been done in the way of a trying out of the plan. Mr. Heinemann tried it a year ago (notably with Hall Caine's "White Prophet" in two volumes at two shillings net each), but it is generally understood that his attempt was unfavorably received; at any rate he has abandoned it. The ordinary six shilling novel is customarily sold at 4s. 6d. (i.e., about $1.10), as compared with our $1.08 or $1.20.

It is the Nelson people, however, who have thrown two bomb shells into the English trade situation, first with their sevenpenny reprints and, within the last two months, with their two shilling new novels.

Thomas Nelson & Sons have never hitherto been known as publishers of new fiction. They have, however, a mammoth book manufacturing plant near Edinburgh, which for size and completeness of labor-saving equipment is unrivalled in England. And it is unquestionably these facilities for cheap book production on a large scale which have so far given them the lead in this line.

The English cheap book market has hitherto been in the hands of the "six penny" people; paper covered novels comparing favorably with our old quarter paper covers and very much better both in manufacture and titles than the ten-cent books which now monopolize the American paper covered market. These sixpenny books had a large sale, for train reading and the like, not having been almost entirely supplanted, as in America, by the cheap magazines.

This market, however, Nelson's sevenpenny cloth bound books have pretty much destroyed. The Nelson sevenpenny series are well printed on tolerably good paper and offer an excellent assortment of titles, not as good, but comparing very fairly, on the whole, with our fifty-cent "rebinds." The first titles of the sevenpenny series were by very well-known authors and its success was phenomenal, enormous quantities being sold. Out of the 7d. (14 cents) selling price, the author is understood to receive 1d. (2 cents) per copy; the publisher 4½d. (about 9 cents) and the bookseller the balance. Of course, even allowing for the much reduced manufacturing costs possible in England, it is evident that very large editions (it is understood, at least 100,000 copies each) must be sold to make the game worth while for the publisher. To keep up this edition ratio on their new titles, as books desirable and available for reprinting grow fewer, is the publisher's problem; and a very present problem he is undoubtedly finding it.

At the same time, despite the wide popularity of the series with the book buying public, the English retail trade have put themselves on record as opposed to sevenpenny publication, pointing out that their margin of profit, 3 cents per copy, though amounting to about 25%, is prohibitively small when consideration is given to the very real injury made by the "seven pennies" in the sale of higher priced books.

This was the situation five weeks ago when the Nelsons announced their two shilling series of new books by such well-known authors as H. G. Wells, Snaith, Anthony Hope and Benson. These books, from a manufacturing standpoint, are if anything better than our "rebinds," on excellent paper, with a frontispiece in full color and are well bound. The author's royalty per copy probably varies; but it is understood that each has been guaranteed returns equal to what he would have received in six shilling form.

Mr. Spurgeon says quite frankly that this latest trade development has perplexed even those most familiar with English booktrade conditions. It is evident that it can be successful only with authors of established reputation, assured in advance of a wide public; for the margin of profit is too small to admit of even occasional failure. Continuance of the Nelson project would therefore inevitably make it increasingly difficult for the new writer, however meritorious, to secure a hearing.

PARCELS POST HEARING.

THE establishment of a general system of Parcels Post by the consolidation of third and fourth class matter at the uniform rate of eight cents a pound and the increase of the weight limit on rural free delivery routes were before the Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads in hearings which began on April 25. Marcus M. Marks, representing the Merchants' Association of New York, urged the ultimate benefit of the retailer by the reduced rate, and John M. Stahl, publisher of various farm journals, spoke on behalf of the farmer, bringing out many comparisons in mail transportation and cost with other countries. Mr. Ingraham, representing the Perfumers' Association, told the committee that a parcels post did not mean the extinction of the small retailer, as the wholesale perfumer could reach him better with small orders than is now possible under the present prohibitive rate on fourth class matter and express packages; that the intention of the mail order stores was to make bulk shipments whenever possible, sending a large order for distribution in a certain community, so that each purchaser could have the benefit of the bulk rate. R. R. Bowker gave the committee further data regarding mail in other countries, and the figures of the express companies, railroads and the Post Office Department were compared, as already largely done in these columns, which threw much new and interesting light upon the question.

Opponents of the parcels post, representing the hardware and drug businesses, argued that the lower rate would do away entirely with the small storekeeper, which the rural free delivery service had already partly accomplished.

The committee is giving full and fair consideration to the questions involved.

FAILURE OF AMMON & MACKEL.

JULIA G. AMMON and Adolph Mackel, who compose the firm of Ammon & Mackel, booksellers at 81 Chambers Street, New York City, have filed a petition in bankruptcy with liabilities of $33,000 and assets of $25,418, consisting of a stock of 90,000 volumes new and second-hand books valued at $21,000; fixtures worth $500, accounts $3500, and cash $418.

There are 240 creditors, among whom are the A. L. Burt Company, $1090; the Bobbs-Merrill Company, Indianapolis, $1067; the Century Company, $609; D. Appleton, $469; Dodd, Mead & Co., $869; the Franklin Building Company, $3500 rent; the J. B. Lippincott Company, Philadelphia, $1180; Lothrop, Lee & Shepard, Boston, $1092; the Macmillan Company, $2044; Anna Petro, $1000; Harper & Brothers, $937, and Charles Scribner's Sons, $1188.

Judge Holt appointed Frederick J. Stimson receiver, with a bond of $10,000, and authorized him to continue business twenty days. The business is a very old one, having been established in 1855 by Leggat Brothers, and the firm of Ammon & Mackel purchased it in October, 1901, it is said, for $20,000. Business has been dull for some time past and profits were not as large as in former days.

LADIES' HOME JOURNAL NO LONGER A MONTHLY.

THE CURTIS PUBLISHING COMPANY has just made the important announcement that beginning with the issue for September 1, 1910, the Ladies' Home Journal will become a semi-monthly magazine, appearing on the 1st and 15th of each month. They say in part:

"Hitherto, in our desire to meet the wishes of our reading public for an expansion of the magazine in its various departments, we have been handicapped by the mechanical limitations in the size of the publication which it is possible for us to send out, or for our readers to handle. By issuing fortnightly instead of monthly we shall be enabled to make all our departments larger and more valuable, and especially afford our fashion department the room which its growth requires and which its success with American women has made inevitable."

It is understood that the growing importance of the Journal's fashion department has brought a change in the magazine under consideration for some time.

The subscription price for the 24 issues will be $1.50 per year, the same as heretofore for 12 issues. The new issues will also be sold on the newsstands, but at 10 cents as compared with 15 under the past plan. The advertising rate will be $5 per agate line for the middle of the month issue, which will be the fashion issue of the month, and $7 for the regular issue, appearing on the 1st of the month.

COMMUNICATIONS.

BOSTON, April 21, 1910.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: You were kind enough, a few months since, to publish some figures which I made in reference to the profit and loss on my sale of a month's purchase of fiction in my store, of books published at $1.50 retail. This was on a basis of having purchased at 81 cents, and that the expense of doing business was 25%. It seems to be universally acknowledged that 28% is nearer the percentage of cost of doing business than 25%.

On this present basis a gentleman in New York in combination with two other dealers has tabulated the possibilities of profit or loss upon the sales of regular books, and books at a net price; showing at the same time the varying possibilities of three different discounts.

These figures are so interesting that it seems to me that you could not do a better thing for publishers and retailers alike than to publish them. I enclose herewith the new tabulation referred to. Yours very truly,

W. B. CLARKE.

RURAL FREE DELIVERY AND "STAR ROUTES" COMBINED.

BEGINNING July 1, by a recent order of Postmaster-General Hitchcock, there will be put into effect a radical change in the organization of the Post Office Department by which the star route service and the rural free delivery service will be combined into a new office, to be known as the Division of Rural Mails.

The star route service has been conducted by the division of contracts, under the Second Assistant Postmaster-General, and the rural delivery service by a division in the bureau of the Fourth Assistant Postmaster-General. The new Division of Rural Mails will be under the jurisdiction of the Fourth Assistant Postmaster-General. For some years past the two services concerned have provided practically the same kind of mail facilities, but the management of each has been distinct from the other.

The new division will have an annual appropriation aggregating close to $50,000,000. The consolidation of the rural delivery and the star route services will, however, prevent conflicting management, avoid duplication of postal authorities and will undoubtedly result in material economies. Investigations by the Department, recently completed, into the cost of operating its several services showed that the rural delivery system was costing about $28,000,000 more than the revnue derived from it. Undoubtedly its consolidation with the star route service will prove to be a most important step in the reorganization of the Department which Mr. Hitchcock is effecting, making it possible to cut down the expenses of operation by several millions of dollars without loss of efficiency.

RARE BENJAMIN FRANKLIN IMPRINT SOLD.

WILLIAM J. CAMPBELL, the Philadelphia bookseller, paid Henry S. Heilman, of Lebanon, Pa., $500 for "Mystische und sehr Geheyme Sprueche," printed in Philadelphia in 1730 by Benjamin Franklin. So far as known it is the only copy of this, first of all Franklin's Philadelphia imprints, still in existence. It is a 32-page book, cover size 3½ by 6 inches, in a fine state of preservation with the original paper cover, rebound in leather. Mr. Heilman purchased the book fifteen years ago at a sale at Ephrata, Pa., for $5.

TRADE ASSOCIATIONS.

AMERICAN BOOKSELLERS' ASSOCIATION

DON'T forget the convention next Tuesday and Wednesday. All sessions will be held in the Hotel Victoria, 27th Street and Broadway, New York.

The opening session will be called to order on Tuesday morning, May 10, at 10.30 o'clock, sharp. Don't miss one minute. Every second will be full of meat and no live bookman can afford to miss it.

Discussions are open to any one, and every paper will develop a rapid fire debate full of interest and profit. Come loaded to participate.

All bookmen, whether members of the Association or not, are invited to attend.

Here is the final program:

TUESDAY, MAY 10.

10.30 A.M.—Business session, committee reports, etc.

11.30.—"The Preparation of a Mail Order Catalogue," Charles L. Bowman, president Union Library Association, New York. Discussion.

PERIODICAL NOTES.

AN innovation is announced by The Atlantic—no less a thing than the publication of a complete short novel in its June number. It is the work of John Galsworthy, the author of "Strife."

It is understood that Frank A. Munsey will shortly try out a new newspaper "stunt" by starting the publication of a one-cent Sunday morning paper, a paper without colored supplement or magazine features. The paper will be Bostonian, a Sunday edition of the Boston Journal.

William H. Black, widely known for some years as advertising manager of the Butterick Trio, until the recent consolidation with Everybody's, has just been made advertising manager of Hampton's Magazine. Howard Ruggles, former advertising manager of Hampton's, will remain with it, for the present at least.

On board the battleship "Mississippi" the men print and publish a little monthly magazine, chronicling news of naval affairs and life abcard ship. The title chosen for the attractive periodical is The Mississippi Bubble, with the gracious permission of Emerson Hough, the author of the well-known romance of that name. Mr. Hough, by the way, is most clever at inventing catchy titles. "54-40 or Fight" was even better than "The Mississippi Bubble."

The Edinburgh Review for April gives articles on "The Work of Reform," dealing with Mary Wollestonecroft and Caroline Norton; on "Histories of the French Revolution," criticising Hilaire Belloc's "Danton;" "Robespierre," and "Marie Antoinette;" and also on the eighth volume of "The Cambridge Modern History," Professor Montague and Moreton Macdonald doing the largest share of the work on this volume; and on "Oliver Wendell Holmes: a Centenary Study," which latter makes us regret as so often before that the Edinburgh Review does not let us know the identity of the writers of its inspiring critical work.

A consolidation of the two oldest optical trade papers of the country, the Optical Review and the Optical Journal, under the name of the Optical Journal and Review of Optometry, will take place June 9. The Jewellers' Circular Publishing Company, No. 11 John Street, New York City, has heretofore issued the Optical Review, and Vincent S. Mulford, head of this company, will be president also of the new corporation, the Optical Publishing Company, which will issue the combined journals weekly. The Frederick Boger Publishing Company, No. 1 Maiden Lane, has issued the Optical Journal, and Mr. Boger becomes the vice president and general manager of the new company. R. M. Lockwood and Frederick A. McGill are to be associate editors of the new weekly.

Samuel Strauss, who has been for several years publisher of the New York Globe, announced last week his retirement from the active management of that paper. Mr. Strauss's retirement was made known in this notice on the editorial page: "On May 2 I shall withdraw from the Globe, having found it impossible to reach an agreement with the owners to secure proprietary control of the property, and being unwilling to continue otherwise. I am leaving the Globe established as one of the most widely read papers in New York. Its management in all others respects remains unchanged. The New York Globe was established in 1797 as the Commercial Advertiser, and has always had a high reputation. Its price was reduced from three cents to one when Mr. Strauss assumed charge.

PERSONAL NOTES.

Colonel George Harvey, of Harper, is making a tour of Europe.

A. L. Bonney, of J. C. Winston & Co., recently made a business trip to Hawaii with Mrs. Bonney. The booksellers there always have a hearty welcome for Eastern travellers.

William C. Lyon, president of the Brown & Lyon Co., Ltd., Honolulu, is making a trip to the mainland. Mr. Lyon will be at the St. Francis Hotel, San Francisco, May 5 to 15.

Miss L. E. Russell, formerly with A. C. McClurg & Co. and later with the St. Paul Book & Stationery Co. and the H. W. Wilson Co., of Minneapolis, has accepted a position with the Torch Press, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa. Miss Russell will enter the book department of this institution and will have full charge of the catalog and bibliographical departments.

Mrs. Alice Harriman, of the Alice Harriman Company, of Seattle, Wash., is now in New York making arrangements for the establishment of a permanent office in this city. The Baker & Taylor Co. will continue to act as eastern trade agents. Mrs. Harriman has several books in active preparation and is author as well as publisher. She is getting out a long novel to be entitled "The Man of Two Countries."

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

B. Herder, St. Louis, Mo., will publish towards the end of May "A Winnowing," by Robert Hugh Benson.

The University of Chicago Press announce "Adam Smith and Modern Sociology," a study in the methodology of the social sciences, by Albion W. Small, the first of a series of books with the aim of interpreting the social sciences.

Among the Century Co.'s early books will be a new novel by Edward C. Booth, author of "The Post Girl." It is a story of life and love in the author's native Yorkshire country, and it will appear under the title "The Doctor's Lass."

Benziger Brothers have just brought out "Brownie and I," by Richard Aumerle, author of "Between Friends," the story of a brown dog who endears himself very much to readers; and "Clare Loraine, or, Little Leaves from a Little Life," a story by "Lee" suited for young girls.

An old bookstore in East 23d Street, New York City, is at present displaying a rather unusual sign, announcing "A Large Assortment of Second-Hand Theology Here." Under this doubtful heading the chief attraction is a complete set of the "Sermons of De Witt Talmage," and along with this a translation of the Koran.

D. Appleton & Co. have now ready volume 7 of John Bach McMaster's "History of the People of the United States," which covers the period from 1842 to 1852, when problems grew graver and personal feeling uncontrolled finally brought about events which produced the War between the States. One more volume finishes the great work.

Every "fan" and every one who has ever been to "Prep" school will find a special appeal in Owen Johnson's story, "The Humming Bird," which the Baker & Taylor Co. are to bring out. It is the record of a wildly exciting "Prep" school baseball game and the description thereof is written by an embryo journalist, whose slang will make the average baseball reporter green with envy.

The Aëronautical Society of Great Britain, 53 Victoria Street, London, has now ready "Aerial Navigation," by Sir George Cayley; and "Aerial Locomotion," by F. H. Wenham, the first of an important series of reprints of aeronautical classics of which the originals are extremely rare and practically unobtainable. There will be six volumes, each one with portrait of the author and biographical notice. So far as we know the American agency for the Society's publications has not yet been arranged.

Moffat, Yard & Co. have just issued "Abnormal Psychology," by Isador H. Coriat, second assistant physician for diseases of the nervous system, Boston City Hospital and neurologist to the Mt. Sinai Hospital, a work written in popular language though from the standpoint of pure science. Many examples of original cases are given, such as multiple personality and the restoration of lost memories. It is a suggestive book, serving to illustrate the application of modern abnormal psychology to practical medicine.

Francis P. Harper, of the firm of Francis P. and Lathrop C. Harper, 437 Fifth Avenue, New York, retired from active business on May 1. Mr. Harper will live in Princeton, N. J., and has hired the late Professor Walter A. Wyckoff's house. His brother, Lathrop Colgate Harper, who has been a partner in the concern ever since it started, some thirty years ago, will continue the business of rare and out-of-print books under his own name.

In the future Life's books and calendars will be supplied the trade by George H. Doran Company, 35 West 32d Street, New York City. They will carry the full line of Life's books and calendars and orders should be sent to them direct. Life's prints will be supplied by the Anderson Publishing Company, 32 Union Square, New York City. Life requests for each of these houses the same patronage and good treatment accorded to them in the past.

Funk & Wagnalls will publish shortly a book by Hiram Maxim which will probably surprise those who know him only as an inventor of high explosives, "The Science of Poetry and the Philosophy of Language." In writing this book the inventor has applied the same faculties of research and scientific exactness that have made him famous as an inventor. He clearly differentiates poetry from verse, showing that verse is essentially a phenomenon of sound, while poetry is a phenomenon of thought.

Fate exacts queer penalties from literary people. Nemesis gets in her work in strange ways. When Mary Roberts Rinehart wrote her farce-novel, "When a Man Marries," about the funny complications made possible by a quarantined household, it is evident that she offended the high gods of medicine. Now they have their revenge. Mrs. Rinehart's small boy, Teddy, is down with the measles, and the big red placard has been nailed on the Rinehart door. The authoress in this durance vile is said to be writing a quarantined tragedy.

George W. Jacobs & Co. have in "The Great Natural Healer," a small volume by a Philadelphia writer that should not be passed by unnoticed. The author, Charles Heber Clark, is perhaps best known to the general public under the nom de plume of Max Adeler. His humor is always spontaneous and pervasive, and he is perhaps at his best in this little sketch, which relates the trials of a man who is mistaken for a physician endowed with wonderful powers of healing. There is no reference to Christian Science or mental healing, but in view of the present interest in these cults the title of the book is very apt.

It is announced that New York's splendid $10,000,000 Public Library, covering two blocks on Fifth Avenue, will at last be open to the public this fall, after thirteen years of annoying and inexcusable delays. The building originally proposed was to cost but $2,500,000. The completed structure will be enriched with some of the most wonderful wood carving and interior decoration in the world, making it a fit home for the great Astor and Lenox Libraries. The nine acres of interior are now ready for furniture and fixtures and the imposing exterior approaches are fast taking shape.

With the death of Björnstjerne Björnson, Norway has lost one of its most capable makers of literature, and not only Norway, for the famous author's works have been translated into many different languages. In America, his writings under the general editorship of Edmund Gosse, are issued in a uniform edition by the Macmillan Company. The set includes ten volumes, with the following titles: "Arne-Absalom's Hair" and "A Painful Memory;" "The Bridal March" and "One Day;" "Captain Mansana" and "Mother's Hands;" "Fisher Lass," "A Happy Boy," "Heritage of the Kurtz" (2 vols.), "In God's Way" (2 vols.), "Magnhild," and "Dust" and "Synnövé Solbakken."

B. W. Huebsch, who published Gorky's latest novel, "The Spy," makes public the following letter from Morris Hillquit, the Socialist leader, who is Gorky's agent on this side, which speaks for itself: "The rumor that Gorky has renounced Socialism is entirely unfounded. He is as enthusiastic in the support of the Socialist movement to-day as he ever was in the past, and is at present maintaining a school at great expense for the instruction of Russian Socialists in the philosophy of the movement at Capri. At any rate, Gorky never as much as mentioned any such intention in his correspondence with me, and I had a letter from him only a few weeks ago."

STURGIS & WALTON have now ready George Cary Eggleston's "The History of the Confederate War," its causes and conduct, a narrative and critical history, an epoch making work in two volumes, in which one of the most popular of American historical writers makes clear to a new generation the magnitude of the Confederate War which raged from 1861 to 1865, and had an influence on national and human destinies that will always have enduring consequences. Eggleston impresses on his readers that the time has come when all Americans may fitly rejoice together in the story of the great deeds done on the one side and on the other in that Confederate War which did so much to give to our Republic its foremost place among the nations of the earth.

THERE can be no question that the English possess wit, sometimes of a high order, but they occasionally lack the sense of "humor." A well-known English booktrade periodical publishes this communication:

"A WARNING.

"DEAR SIR: Supplementing my letter in a previous issue regarding a certain impostor who was obtaining books by use of the telephone, it might be as well to give your readers a description of the man. This is as follows: Age about 35, medium height, clean shaven, brown hair, well dressed and well educated. Yours faithfully,

"T. FISHER UNWIN.

"1, Adelphi Terrace, W. C."

This warning will doubtless prove most useful to any one hereafter called up on the 'phone by the swindler so minutely described.

STURGIS & WALTON published Monday "An Out-of-Door Diary for Boys and Girls," arranged and illustrated by Marion Miller," a most original little book which ought to be endlessly popular with youngsters, for it offers year-long amusement. Mottoes scattered through it, and cheerful and gay illustrations stimulate young eyes to keep a sharp lookout on the natural objects—trees and flowers, birds and beasts—that are met in rambles afield, in the woods or in city parks, and affords on its blank pages a convenient place to record what children find interesting and curious. They have just issued "Children's Gardens for Pleasure, Health and Education," by Henry Griscom Parsons, secretary and practical adviser of the International Children's Schools Farm League, who has done much to bring about the attaching of gardens and farm plots to schools and making gardening an important factor in education.

THE OPEN COURT PUB. CO. announces an important book, "Letters to His Holiness, Pope Pius x," by a Modernist. Modernism says that Italian centralization is paralyzing Catholicism, and is causing every modern state to look upon it as half political and wholly foreign. It says that officially tolerated superstitions are grievously compromising Catholicism in the eyes of educated men. The present Catholic Church is not Catholic, but is Italian and even Roman. Its first principle is that only an Italian can become Pope, and among the Cardinals few non-Italians are tolerated in order to keep the balance of power in Italy. Will the time ever come when the Roman Catholic Church will drop the epithet "Roman" and will be simply a Catholic church in which Romans, Americans, English and Germans are on a parity?

A VERY important contribution to the literature of the negro question is the new book "Through Afro-America," by William Archer, the great English critic, who has recently made an extended tour through the Southern States, in order to gather facts and opinions from the leaders on both sides. So far from the education of the negro having improved the state of affairs, he finds that matters are distinctly worse than they were ten years ago, and that the influences now at work all tend to aggravate rather than ameliorate conditions. He discusses the causes of the trouble with insight and sympathy, and also the suggested remedies, including Booker Washington's "Atlanta Compromise;" but he sees little hope for any improvement until the Union as a whole rouses itself to grapple with its most menacing danger. The book, which is published by Dutton, is dedicated to H. G. Wells, "with whom I so rarely disagree that, when I do, I must needs write a book about it."

THE Putnams will publish this spring a tender and charming story by Paul Creswick, "Honesty's Garden." In Honesty's garden grew roses and a flower sweeter still. How she and her old-young incorrigible lover of books discovered it after many days—after it had quite become nobody's secret—is an old tale told with sympathy, sincerity and charm. Also this month will appear an anonymous volume, "He Restoreth My Soul," an attempt to strip Christianity of its formal element, to arrive at its essence, and to show its application to present day life and existing institutions. The author shows how through the perversion of the instinct of self-preservation into the vice of selfishness much of the evil of the world has arisen; and attacks many of the tendencies of the day, both in America and in England. Two volumes in the Putnam's Historic States of Italy series will also appear shortly: "A History of Verona," by Miss M. Allen; and "A History of Perugia," by William Heywood.

DUFFIELD & COMPANY have just ready "The Emigrant Trail," by Geraldine Bonner, a story of a trip across the continent from Rochester to California, taken in 1847, just before the cry of "Gold" brought about the great emigration that settled the vast continent. The heroine is a healthy, happy girl who wins two lovers on the trip, both men of unusual force of character, one of whom loves her more unselfishly than the other. Also now on sale are "The Innocent Murderers," by William Johnson and Paul West, a mystery tale of the application of radium salts toward inducing the suspension of animation and the consequences to the learned professor who swallowed a concoction in a graduating glass to preserve his secret from his colleagues; "Russian Lyrics and Cossack Songs," translated by Martha Gilbert Dickinson Bianchi; and "The Frozen Grail and Other Poems," by Elsa Barker, the first poem relating to Commander Peary's last expedition to the pole, just published in the New York Times.

R. F. FENNO & COMPANY have just ready "The Wonders of Life," by Ida Lyon, about twenty-two essays on Occult Forces, Energy, Calmness, Business of Living, etc.; and "Engineers' and Machinists' Hand Book," by Henry A. Golding, Associate Member of the Institute of Mechanical Engineers. Jn June he will issue "The Passover: an Interpretation," a story disclosing intimate knowledge of Jewish history by Clifford Howard; "The How Does It Work of Model Making," instructions for building a steam locomotive, a model steamboat, electric motor, telephone, turbine, etc., by Cyril Hall; "The 'How Does It Work' of Modern Engines," by Thomas W. Corbin; and "The 'How Does It Work' of Electricity," by the same author. In July will come "Suffer Little Children," by Catherine Shaw, a child's life of Christ with colored illustrations; and in August "Those Smith Boys," by Howard R. Garis; "Anne Nelson: a Little Maid of Province Town," by Alice Turner Curtis; and "Sherman Hale, the Harvard Half-Back," by George Hart Rand.

A NEW series of books—to be called the Harvard Studies in Comparative Literature—has just been founded by Professor Schofield, of Harvard, who is to be the general editor. It is to comprise works by Harvard graduates or instructors in the field of comparative literature. This field will not be narrowly or rigidly defined, but will be taken to include studies of important works of whatever land, age or character, not only in their relations to other writings with which they may have bonds of connection, but also to history, philosophy and the fine arts. The plan of the new series is not to publish documents of the regular doctor-thesis type, but the finished productions of mature scholars, who have assimilated their material and are able to present it in a form that will appeal to any cultivated reader. The books, moreover, are to be printed handsomely at the Merrymount Press. Since the series is solely intended to serve the interests of literary scholarship, the price of each volume is to be as low as the conditions of manufacture permit. Professor Schofield has been fortunate in securing Professor Santayana, the distinguished philosopher, essayist and poet, to inaugurate the series. His subject is "Three Philosophical Poets—Lucretius, Dante, and Goethe." The series is to be published by the University itself. The first volume is to appear in June next, and may be had from the publication agent, 2 University Hall, Cambridge, Mass.

BUSINESS NOTES.

AUBURN, ME.—O. G. Beal has sold his book and stationery store to Costello P. Dennison.

BOULDER, COLO.—The Greenman Stores Co., capitalized with $35,000 common stock and $15,000 preferred stock, has been organized to take over the business conducted by Alfred A. Greenman for the past eight years, which business succeeded the firm of Maxwell & Greenman, organized in 1897. A new store building will be erected near the University of Colorado campus. The larger portion of this building will be rented to others at this time, but sufficient space will be retained to install a branch store better to take care of the student trade. Mr. Greenman will continue in the management of the business as heretofore.

BRANDON, VT.—J. H. Cross & Co., booksellers and stationers, have sold out to R. H. Everest.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—Frank McHale (technical books) is now established at 425 McDonough Street, having removed from the Havemeyer Building, in the Borough of Manhattan.

CANON CITY, COLO.—H. N. Beecher has sold out his stock of books, curios and stationery to C. W. Talbott.

JOPLIN, MO.—The Joplin Law Book Co. has just been incorporated by A. W. Hough, A. M. Hough and H. S. Crane, with a capital of $10,000, to publish law books.

MARIETTA, O.—The Colonial Bookstore has made an assignment for the benefit of its creditors.

MARSHFIELD, ORE.—F. A. Homer has recently opened a book and stationery store.

NEW CASTLE, IND.—Morris & Co., booksellers and stationers, have sold out to T. F. McDonnell.

NEW YORK CITY.—Barse & Hopkins, publishers, formerly at 296 Broadway, have removed to 52-58 Duane Street, to the premises formerly occupied by Grosset & Dunlap.

NEW YORK CITY.—The A. L. Chatterton Co. have also removed to 52-58 Duane Street.

NEW YORK CITY.—J. O. Wright & Co. announce the dissolution of the partnership doing business under that title. Mr. Wright will continue the book department at 5 and 7 East 42d Street (Transit Building). Mr. Fridenberg will continue the department of engravings, etc., at 6 East 42d Street.

NEW YORK CITY.—The Frederick A. Stokes Co. have removed from 333 Fourth Avenue to the Dodd, Mead & Co. building on Fourth Avenue, at 30th Street, where they occupy the fifth and sixth floors.

NEW YORK CITY.—Charles F. Doscher has given up the publishing business which he has carried on for two years past in his own name and has become the Eastern representative of The Saalfield Publishing Co., with office at 156 Fifth Avenue.

NEW YORK CITY.—Henry Malkan, 42 Broadway, has established a wholesale department in connection with this store. He is making a specialty of publishers' remainders, American and British, and has items on his list that furnish good opportunities for the wide-awake bookseller. The publications of De Wolfe, Fiske & Co. will be handled exclusively by him. A monthly list for the trade will be issued, and names of booksellers are requested for the mailing list. Henry Malkan is ready at all times to purchase remainders of single numbers or sets, the greater the quantity the better, provided he controls the sale exclusively. Visitors to the convention of the Booksellers' Association are cordially invited to drop in at the Malkan stores.

SEATTLE, WASH.—Frank B. Wilson has moved his Archway Bookstore to a larger and more modern location on the northwest corner of Pike Street and Third Avenue. Starting five years ago in one small room, Mr. Wilson has built up a business that now requires two large stores, one for the stationery and office supplies, at 318 Pike Street, and the other for books and periodicals, on the corner of Third Street.

ANNOUNCEMENT TO THE TRADE

WE BEG TO ANNOUNCE the establishment of a wholesale department in connection with our business at No. 42 Broadway, New York City.

WE ARE MAKING A SPECIALTY of publishers' remainders, American and British, and some of the items in our present list furnish unusual opportunities for the wide-awake bookseller. The publications of De Wolfe, Fiske & Co. will be handled exclusively by us. Other interesting announcements will follow. We shall issue a monthly list for the trade and booksellers are requested to send us their name and address for our mailing list.

PUBLISHERS ARE NOTIFIED that we are ready at all times to purchase remainders of single volumes or sets, the greater the quantity the more desirable providing we control the exclusive sale.

FOR PUBLISHER FOR BOOKSELLER

Two Valuable Mailing Lists

We are offering the booktrade two new and very useful mailing lists.

One is a directory of all the public and semi-public libraries in the United States and Canada, whose yearly appropriations for book purchase make it worth while sending them your catalogues and circulars. There are over one thousand entries giving the name of the librarian, the number of volumes in library, total yearly income, and the amount spent for books last year.

The other is a directory of booksellers in the principal towns of the United States and Canada, with street addresses in larger cities, and the dealer's specialty, if he has one, mentioned. It does not include small towns, or the little fry in big towns. It might be called a "traveller's list of people to see." There are more than two thousand entries arranged by states.

Would either of these lists interest you? If so, send for the "Annual Library Index, 1909" ($5.00), which includes the library list, and the "Annual American Catalog, 1909" ($3.00), which includes the booksellers' list.

The Selling of Books in Summer Time

A Business Suggestion (of interest only to live dealers):

¶ While to most people summer means a season of recreation or loafing, to the bookseller who would maintain the continuity of business it means increased activity and watchfulness.

¶ One of the most important aids in pushing business during the "dull" season is a tempting catalog in magazine form of books suitable for shore and mountain reading, such as is prepared by this office in "SUMMER READING." It is prepared with the view of bringing to the special attention of summer visitors the books in which they are most likely to be interested, of securing their attention by the liberal use of attractive illustrations, and of giving attractive foretastes of the delights stored in them.

¶ Such a catalog should be found serviceable by two classes of the trade: first, by city dealers, who may fill orders by mail for the multitudes who go far out of sight of any bookstore, but can be cultivated by the aid of Uncle Sam; and second, by booksellers at or near summer resorts, who desire pleasantly to acquaint summer visitors that there is a bookstore near at hand from which they can be supplied. With such a "Silent Salesman" as "SUMMER READING" old customers may be retained and new trade created.

¶ "SUMMER READING" has been issued annually for a number of years, and has become a regular feature of the trade. With its new and attractive cover, bearing the special imprint of the dealer, and its hundred odd pages of live, illustrated book news, it is adapted for circulation all through the summer, and that, too, at a price which will enable any bookseller to make at least a trial of securing trade through its means.

The terms for editions with imprint are as follows:

100 copies, $3.50; 250 copies, $8.00; 500 copies, $15.00
